AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF ARREST

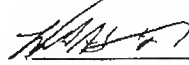

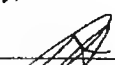

On Saturday, January 14, 2012, at approximately 1:55 p.m., near the intersection of 14th and Park Road, N.W., and within the District of Columbia, victim Juan Paredes was attacked by S-1, who has since been identified as the defendant, Jeffrey Mills. Victim Juan Paredes (hereinafter "decedent") was hospitalized after the assault and died while in the hospital on or about Sunday, January 15, 2012, at 10:15 p.m.. When admitted to the hospital on Saturday, the decedent was suffering from a variety of injuries, including internal bleeding and head trauma. While in the hospital, the decedent underwent multiple surgeries in an effort to save his life. Authorities are awaiting the completion of an autopsy, but your affiant believes that this case will ultimately be designated a homicide. Furthermore, your affiant currently understands that the decedent did not regain consciousness once he entered the hospital.

The defendant, the victim, and a variety of witnesses were still on scene when officers from the Metropolitan Police Department ("MPD") arrived within minutes of the assault. The decedent, Juan Paredes, was going in and out of consciousness when officers arrived, lying on the ground with a pool of blood around his head, appearing to be suffering from head trauma. Your affiant would note that no weapon was recovered from or near the decedent's person. A long, heavy barbell (or "metal pole") was recovered by MPD; it was leaning against the defendant's van when officers arrived.

W-1 indicated that IT saw S-1 approach the decedent and strike him with a long metal pole. W-1 said that S-1 hit the decedent in the head and continued to beat him with the pole as the decedent apparently laid unconscious on the ground. W-1 identified the defendant to MPD officers on the scene, by pointing to the defendant and indicating that he was the attacker.

W-2 indicated that IT saw S-1 approaching the decedent with a metal pole and heard S-1 say something to the effect of, "You want to pull a knife on me?" and then began hitting the decedent with the pole. W-2 said that the decedent fell to the ground and S-1 continued to beat the decedent with the pole while the decedent was on the ground. W-2 identified the defendant to MPD officers on the scene, by pointing to the defendant and indicating that he was the attacker.

AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF ARREST

When officers arrived on the scene, the defendant, who works as a street vendor, was packing up his belongings and putting them in his van. Prior to any arrest, an officer approached and asked the defendant what was going on. The defendant indicated that ten minutes prior to the assault he was approached by the decedent while working his vending business. The defendant claimed that the decedent threatened to cut him with a machete-shaped pocket knife, and then left the area. The defendant claimed that when the decedent returned to the area, he heard the decedent and others talking in Spanish, which he did not understand. The defendant stated that he was stabbed last year and thought the culprit might have been one of the three who were taunting him. The defendant indicated that he was not going to let them stab him again. The defendant gestured to the recovered metal pole and indicated that he grabbed it, approached the decedent, and hit the decedent with it.
